

***** BLIE BURKE, IN PARIS, TELLS ALL ABOUT THE FORTHCOMING CHANGE IN FEMININE HAIR AND HATS. *****

BY BILLIE BURKE.
 THE RITZ-CARLTON, PARIS, July 18.—Paris in summer, especially the latter part of July and all of August, is given over to the tourist. All the "haute mode" is away at the French summer resorts or at the country houses.
 However, when this letter is being written, one sees some of the fashionables still in the gayest city of all the world.
 Fashions in hats and hair have again begun to change. Contrary to the general opinion, one does not jump abruptly from one mode into another. The present tight skirts and large waists have been about eight years in the process of evolution from the wide skirt, the small waist and the big hips period.
 It does not take quite so long, however, to change the shape of a hat as it does the shape of a woman, so we may look for the new hat and the new hair modes to come in universally by the spring styles. This winter you will see the extreme dressers and many actresses who pride themselves on being a little in front of the procession with hats pushed way up in the back and held there by the hair, which is worn in a high psychic knot like ones in the sketches.
 These hats are very piquant looking and I think the wearing of hats of the kind illustrated will necessitate a change in the "sloppy carriage" which now is so popular. A hat pushed down over one's eyes makes one hold one's head up. Consequently one cannot walk with the ugly drooping shoulders and the protruding abdomen that is so much in vogue at the present moment.
 Everything now, moreover, points to the high profile in the back and a flat look from the front of the head, while just the opposite is correct for the pose of the body.
 Incidentally, I'm going to make a confession. I am a hat fan and so, of course, I bought one of each of the styles that I am sending to you. Two of them were in black and white and the other was all white, but I haven't adopted yet the style of gowns that is skin tight in the back and which makes the front curved—and much "to the fore." Perhaps I will do so, for as yet all gowns are made with draping that is forced forward and a high, round abdomen effect that was seen in the United States here and there before I left.

POLITICAL FIELD IS BADLY MUSSUED

Neither Democrats, Republicans or Progressives Know What They Want.

ELKHART, Ind., July 18.—With the progressive and republican parties both unable to agree on a unified city ticket and with the democratic party hopelessly factional as the result of Wednesday evening's trouble during the mass convention, Elkhart may truthfully be said to be in a peculiar situation politically.
 Who will be the nominee is the question. Mayor Ellis M. Chester will undoubtedly be the democratic organization's candidate while the anti is said to favor James A. Bell. A majority of the progressives are said to favor Forrest E. Hughes while the only possibility "spoken of" thus far in republican ranks is Edward B. Zigler.

 At present time Mayor Ellis M. Chester is conceded to have the greatest strength although a popular candidate named by another political party will discount it.
 All of the political parties are said to be vying with each other to see which will be the last to name a city ticket seemingly regarding it as a point of advantage and a basis on which to measure their individual tickets. The republicans progressives may not put their tickets in the field until the latter part of September.

TELEPHONE OPERATORS GIVE FLOOD WARNINGS

No Loss of Lives as a Result of Word Sent Out Over Wires Near Wheeling, W. Va.

WHEELING, W. Va., July 18.—Prompt action on the part of telephone operators is believed to have prevented heavy loss of life in the region 12 miles east of here just before noon Thursday, when a cloud-burst flooded the entire section. Water rolled in a wall out of Wheeling creek and little Wheeling creek also was flooded, ruining crops and washing houses from their foundations. So far as known no one was drowned, people of Majorsville fleeing to the nearby hills when warned of the on-rushing torrent.

MILITARY BALLOON WRECKED BY WINDS

Germany Dirigible Carries Off Two Sentries and One is Killed in the Fall.

SCHNEIDEMUEHL, Germany, July 18.—The military dirigible balloon Schuette-Lanz was torn from her moorings in a wind squall Thursday and wrecked. She carried up in her cage two sentries, one of whom was killed by falling 600 feet, and the other severely injured by a jump of 30 feet.

 Neither crew nor pilot was on board the air craft, which was at anchor on the military parade ground, her mooring chains buried six and a half feet in the earth when a gust caused her to break away. The sentries tried to hold her down and were lifted into the air. One loosened his hold soon after leaving the earth, but the other had fastened his hold and was thrown to the ground and killed. The dirigible was located an hour later near the village of Erpel.

COURT ORDERS MAN TO KEEP AWAY FROM WIFE

Matthew Hornung Must Not Bother Mrs. Hornung While Case Is Pending.

Matthew Hornung, who has been keeping the city and county officials busy for the past few days and who was last held for intoxication in the city court, will not be allowed to come near the home of his wife, Mary Hornung, 2712 Linden av. Judge Funk issued a restraining order enjoining him from entering the premises on the application of Mrs. Hornung's attorney.
 After he had been ejected from the court room Monday when preliminary matters in his wife's divorce suit were being settled, Hornung went to their home and raised a general roughhouse, the wife alleged. She told Judge Funk she feared her husband in her petition for a restraining order.
